Lagoon Camp Kwando Reserve, Linyanti

Shaded under massive African Ebony trees, situated centrally, in the extensive Kwando wilderness of 232 000 ha. (550 000 acres) is Kwando Lagoon Camp. Kwando Lagoon Camp comprises 8 spacious purpose designed tents with views over the private lagoon formed by the ever-changing Kwando River. Each tent comprises a bedroom area with a spacious bathroom en suite. The bathroom has a double basin set in an indigenous Mukwa wood stand and a flush loo. The spacious outdoor reeded showers capture the essence of Africa that is Kwando.

The tents are furnished in the best teak furniture that Zimbabwean master craftsmen can create. The shady cool interiors are produced by a canvas flysheet under shade cloth, which are also set under massive Ebony and Marula trees with shady lawns. A small plunge pool is available to cool off during the long summer days. The resident hippos entertain our guests as they sit in the deck chairs, on the decks in front of their tents.

Stay at Lagoon and you will experience that unique Kwando Safaris experience "intimate camps in private areas with personal service". Kwando Safaris was founded to give our guests a true African safari - just what you would expect - but more...

- 8 ensuite tents.
- Double decker boats for safaris, night drives and game drives all possible.
- A guide and driver per vehicle to maximize on game viewings.
- Isolated wilderness area.

Our View

The sister camp to Lebala, Lagoon camp has a slightly different focus. Located right on the border between Namibia and Botswana, the camp overlooks the small river that flows gently along the border. The game in the area is still very good and boating in specialised, double decker boats can be a welcome break from bouncing around in vehicles. With each of the well appointed tents having great views out onto the river, this is a really great alternative to Lebala and well worth a visit at any time of the year. Kwando Camp truly are a perfect addition to any itinerary in Botswana and provide something a little different.
